FROM THE ADMINISTRATOR

May is here and a new moose year ahead of us. Lets make this year a successful one. Thank you to all of our volunteers. We are always having opportunities for more volunteers. Ask your officers how you can help. We are planning fun events. Working on getting our kids more involved as well. See how you can help your lodge to look better. Check out the events board some new ones have been added.

Fraternally,
Susi Keel

Happy May to all.

As the new Senior Regent,I am exited to see this next year to be a success. In order for this to work, we need to all work as team. We need as many volunteers that we can get. Not to just volunteer to help with functions but to give me your input with activities, how you see this year success ful. I do volunteer as a bartender as well. Come say hi with questions suggestions. Lisa Lyle

Tips for Online Membership Applications

The Moose has online applications you can submit rather than paper applications. This year, 28% of all Lodge Membership applications have come through the online portal. To direct prospective members to the online application go to "New Member Application" in the Moose Membership app or <https://www.mooseintl.org> from your web browser.

Click on "Be A Moose" from the top menu bar.

Scroll down to click on the applicable online applications.

Online WOTM Chapter Membership Application

Online Moose Legion Membership Application

NOTE: You DO NOT NEED to scroll through ALL the years to get to the correct birth year on the application on your phone.

Click on the year next to the date (see arrows below) and you will see a drop-down menu to easily scroll through.

You can also access the online applications by scanning these QR codes on your Smartphone.

Lodge Membership

WOTM Membership

Moose Legion Membership

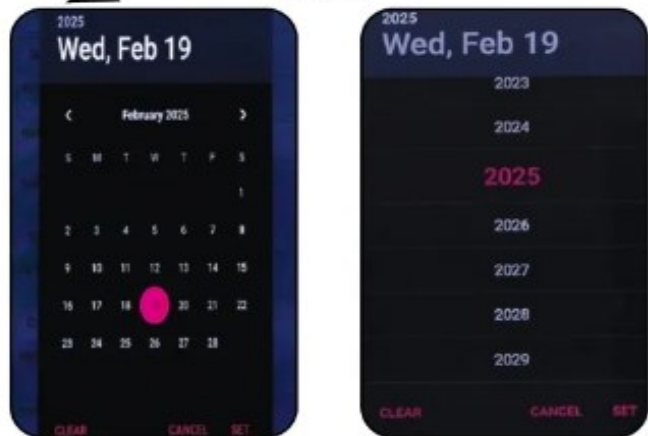

HINT: Take a picture of the QR codes with your cell phone. When talking to prospective members, they can scan the QR code directly from your phone.

iPhone

Click on the blue arrow to the right of the "Month Year" line. Then, scroll to the correct birth year.

Android

Click on the "Year" at the top of the pop-up. Then, scroll to the correct birth year.

New Officers Need Mentors To Ensure a Successful Term

The Women of the Moose elections are over (or should be) and the new officers are ready to assume their responsibilities as leaders.

How will they do in their first 100 days, or even their entire year?

A lot depends on their familiarity with our chapter operations, the Officers' Handbooks and the Women of the Moose General Laws.

Serving as a leader for the first time can be scary and intimidating. Many chapter issues reflect a lack of knowledge about the General Laws and our mission statement. If the tenured members are there to help and guide those first-time leaders, their year in office should go smoothly. Unfortunately, many experienced and knowledgeable members have stopped coming to meetings and the first-time officers are left with no one to mentor them. It's critical that we never give up on each other.

How can we get our "seasoned" members to realize they should guide and pass their wisdom to the next generation? At some point, someone encouraged our new officers to serve, and the same was once true for those with many years of chapter leadership.

Don't let these new officers fly on their own until they realize what their job entails. Our Fraternalists need to pass on their love for the Moose to the next generation, instead of walking away. The Official Visitors may get the chapters back on track, but it is the "seasoned" veterans who keep them thriving.

Our new officers have a lot of reading to do to understand their responsibilities and ensure they are fair to all members. They have been entrusted with the chapter's future and should work in harmony with other members to accomplish our great work. At the end of the Chapter year, the Senior Regent becomes the Junior Past Regent, and her role is to mentor her successor. This brilliant plan of succession has been in place for generations.

Officers have the ability to make a difference in the life of their chapter. Through dedication, commitment and proper chapter operation, the Award of Achievement may be earned and members may be rewarded for their hard work. This can only be accomplished through enthusiasm and proper planning. ■

— Barb McPherson, Women of the Moose Grand Chancellor

Through this coming Chapter Year, please remember to be kind to one another.

Don't let these new officers fly on their own until they realize what their job entails. Our Fraternalists need to pass on their love for the Moose to the next generation.
